Not getting paid for a job is even worse than a lost load or having drivers sit in the job shack. It is essential in business to get paid for a job done.

Tracking and serving liens is the one recourse a construction materials company has on property. It can be the savior during legal battles. The Lien Report gives instant access to the specific order or project to confirm total amounts for projects have not been breached. It is also a way to instantly attach lien notices onto orders or jobs. Many sort features are also available.

In today's economy it is essential for business to track their money and assets. Lien Reporting makes sure all deliveries are properly pre-liened. It also gives various search options to find how much property is pre-liened for a certain contractor. Don't get caught like so many others and lose your rights to payment by not filing liens in the proper amount of time. This also can potentially cut down overhead by eliminating unneeded paperwork.
